TEURSDAY EVE'G., SEPTEMBER 18.

A REMARKABLE JOURNAL .- The official organ of the Chinese Government, known as the Penin Gazette, is certainly a most remarkable journal. Not only is it the oldest newspaper in existence, but it is highly probable that it was the first journal ever published, and what is more, the first that was ever printed; for it is pretty well settled that the spread of news by means of written documents was attempted in Europe at certain periods long before the days of the print-ing press. The contributors to the Cazatte are now, and have been for many centuries, the abiest men in a country noted for the attention paid to education. On this account the flies of pan to education. On the account the dissor-the caper, must, at some future time, prove of in mence service to the historian who desires to write an account, not only of the Chinese Em-pire, but of the Asiatic nations with which in times past, she has held diplomatic intercourse. Al-though the paper is published under the imme-diate and the country of the degree paper. This much though the paper is published under the imma-diate supervision of the Government, this much must be said of it, that its columns have been open to those holding divergent opinions, and from this point of view it has carried out the modern idea at a review more thoroughly than the modern conception of a fix witesper. An in-stance of this impartiality can be found in the recent publication by it of the letter written by W-ko-tu, one of the Board of Civil Gilice, just before his suicide, reflecting severely on the usurpation actions of the Empress Recent. The intent of this document was to force them to sid-dicate, and the arguments against their further dicate, and the arguments against their further continuance in lower were strongly given. A civilized despot would have deemed it advisable to suppress this seditions communication, but the Chinese rulers have, perhaps, shown their good sense, as they certainly have their con-cloudness of strength, by giving it the publicity its author
